I'd like you to be valorous to broaden "the sphere of culture" as one of sapient beings standing upon the earth.

Toshiyuki Namai

I Toshiyuki Namai declare that the desideratum for the sake of your graceful cultivation in the future is essentially derived from the experience of feeling in your daily life all the time.

Above all things, how you sensitively feel the things in your 24 hours every day every night is absolutely commensurable to how you valuably ameliorate the quality of living.

The quality of living inevitably affects the quality of process to cultivate your culture very much, that is to say, the quality of living dramatically changes the rest of your life more than you simply imagine.

I'd like you to be valorous to broaden "the sphere of culture" as one of sapient beings standing upon the earth from the standpoint of what is called "humankind" from time immemorial in the whole history of the earth.

Diaphanously speaking, you are one of sapient beings who substantially makes a tiny portion of the whole history of this planet with or without consciousness of this matter (reality).

Quintessentially, authentic part of culture itself should not be used for the sake of the realization of self-dramatization or self-assertion in the state of imbroglio with others locally twisted and poisoned at all.

Authentic culture intrinsically should exist for the sake of the necessary embodiment of the ideal of humanity in the process to experience the history of humankind as for all human beings who dwell here on earth.

You have a decisive bifurcation whether you can be cultured or not as one of organizers of this human society on this planet in the solar system in the universe.

This is not a matter of individual culture itself simply. This is a matter of the ideal of humanity we human beings have been pursuing from time immemorial.

I'd like you to go on. I'd like you to go forth for you to be a more cultured human being ad infinitum.

It is a truly sheer bliss of mine to give you my guidance for the sake of your intellectual and cultural sake in future. I'd like you to be valorous enough to tread a thorny path in order to build your authentic culture beautifully.
