The subtlety of the things

The ability for you to susceptibly feel and recognize the subtlety of the things is absolutely important for you to rigidly learn and master elegant English here in this Ginza sanctuary by inches.

Toshiyuki Namai

<Introduction>

It is very important for you to susceptibly feel and recognize the subtlety of the things. For instance, many people can recognize a big difference between the two, A and B. In this case, it is quite easy to feel and recognize the difference between the two.

Conversely, if there is a little and slight difference which is truly imperceptible to your senses you possess between the two, A and B, it is really difficult for you to feel and recognize such a slight difference between the two.

Now, you are hereinafter expected to be trained through appreciating the poem composed below for the sake of the refinement of the ability to susceptibly feel and recognize the subtlety of the things rigidly.

The ability for you to feel and recognize the subtlety of the things is absolutely important for you to learn and master elegant English here in this Ginza sanctuary inch by inch.

Usually, most of people are talented to embroider the truth for their self-centered justification (as an ironical nuance). Hence, what you need is purity in your heart.

No one can speak any elegant English without having purity in his/her heart. Because elegant English is the very embodiment of purity in human heart.

The subtlety of the things

Would you like to feel the subtlety of the things delicately?

Is there any shortcut to experience it?

What you need is life experience as a prerequisite

How you sensitively feel the subtlety of the things is refined by inches day by day

Tranquilize yourself now

You need to breathe tranquilly momentarily

With or without having tranquility exquisitely in your heart,

The quality to subtly feel the things is absolutely different

Listen,

Beauty is in the eye of beholder

What you see is what you got

The society is full of embellishment

The society is organized by the counterfeit elements a few can recognize

You should not be deceived by meaningless tinsel

Deception upon deception

There are so many chances to be deceived in the society poisoned

What you need is refined delicacy

The very delicacy of delicacy is necessary for you to sharply feel the subtlety of the things
