Genuine or phony

Nobody negatively hinders you at all

Toshiyuki Namai

<Introduction>

It is really beautiful for you to have perseverance constructively. The perseverance engenders the potentiality for you to gradually realize your dream in the future.

If what you are doing is absolutely right judging from “common sense,” no one negatively disturbs you in your action.

Furthermore, if what you are doing is surely reasonable and right, you naturally have strength to dig a tunnel to go forth. Essentially speaking, the tunnel introduced is not a simple tunnel as an ordinary process for you. It is a seriously necessary tunnel as an important process to reach a certain stage in human intellectuality in the future.

I hereby tell you that there are two kinds of wills in human mentality all human beings possess inevitably. The one is a will to positively dig a tunnel. And the other is a will to escape from digging it (or a will to avoid digging it).

Of course, you can choose the one out of the two at your discretion. Usually, “a few choose the former.”

Genuine or phony

Genuine or phony

It doesn't matter whether a person who exists in front of you is genuine or phony

It is obviously true that a genuine person remains in your life eventually

Reversely, a phony disappears sooner or later

There is such natural law in the East and the West

Again, I tell you,

A phony shows his true colors sooner or later

Therefore, you really don't have to do anything special in front of such a meretricious person

Do what you really need to do without hesitation

Nobody negatively hinders you at all

Essentially speaking, all you need is just perseverance in order to realize what you truly need

A genuine person remains

A phony disappears

It is truism,

And it is surely natural law in the East and the West

Truth will out
